Cross Saddles for Ladies.

There are many lady riders in Phoenix, and every lady who ever sat a horse, or a tricycle, or even a burro, ought to be interested in the new method of riding. Having adopted it, they marvel in the depth of their souls as to who ever invented and enforced the atrocious and idiotic system of putting a biped sideways on a seat unsafe as best, and so risking permanent deformity of bone and muscle, if not accident and injury of all sorts. Many and many a woman has lost her life because of the hooked thing that held her knee, when she might have slipped off, and the trailing habit which could not be disengaged. In a sex admittedly weaker and less agile, preferably so to most, why quadruple their danger and limit their development by unnatural garments? Because this has been done so far is no reason it should be so still. The new fashion of cross riding is gaining rapidly, very rapidly, and the divided riding skirt, short and graceful, is a thing that will not be ignored. It has come, and come to stay. Of course part of this is Jenness Miller; but Jenness Miller comes at a time when the world of women is chafing more and more at traditional restriction. Great ladies in London and great ladies in New York ride serenely across their horses, as did the queenly Amazons of old.

Rise in Price of False Teeth.

Prices in false teeth have gone up recently, but the rise was caused solely by the scarcity of platinum, of which metal the little pins are made with which to fasten each tooth to the plate. All the platinum of commerce comes from Russian mines in the Ural mountains, and the supply is hardly sufficient for the demand at present. The consumption of platinum has greatly increased since the electric-lighting companies began its use. Did you ever observe the tiny, hair-like wire loop in each incandescent light? That wire is made of platinum, which is one of the very hardest of metals. The price of platinum has gone up to about $20 an ounce, which is considerably higher than 22-karat gold. Thus it comes about that platinum is literally "worth its weight in gold," and more, too. This may now with propriety be classed among "the precious metals." It is found in Oregon and several other parts of the United States, but not in commercial quantities.
